For the first time, the Central European Diabetes Association (CEDA) 2023 will host two scientific sessions with: ILEP (International Lipid Expert Panel) and IAS (International Atherosclerosis Society).

Dear and distinguished colleagues, I have the great honor to invite you to the 54th Central European Diabetes Association (CEDA) Congress, which will take place in Bucharest, Romania, on 8–10 June 2023.

On the 2023 CEDA edition, we have prepared for you scientific sessions on relevant topics, “state of the art” sessions, original communication sessions, e-poster sessions and “hand-to-hand” workshops.

Science, technology and interaction – we want to combine these three main directions in a harmonious way in the organization of CEDA 2023, and together with you we want to build strong partnerships in diabetology at the Central European level.

As you well know, in the tradition of CEDA, the development of scientific bridges between generations is extremely important, so that, in the 2023 edition, we will continue the tradition and we will provide mentoring scholarships and awards to young doctors.

To develop the importance of the multidisciplinary approach to diabetes mellitus and its complications, CEDA 2023 will organize interactive sessions on:

- Diabetic neuropathy
- Diabetic retinopathy
- Diabetic foot
- Cardiovascular disease in diabetes
- Chronic kidney disease and diabetes
- Liver diseases and diabetes
- Neurological conditions and diabetes
- Urology and diabetes
- Surgery in diabetes
- Management of obesity
- Gynecology and diabetes

Also, a section dedicated to type-1-diabetes will be included in the event.

We are waiting for you from 8 – 10 June 2023 in Bucharest, Romania, at CEDA 2023 – the Congress through which we want to offer new perspectives of scientific interaction between diabetologists at the European level.

It is a great privilege for me, as the president of the organizing committee of CEDA 2023, but also as the elected vice-president of CEDA, to host the organization’s most important annual international event in Romania.

I thank the CEDA board as well as the two presidents, Prof. Stulnig (former president) and Prof. Kempler (president) for their support and trust, and I am convinced that with everyone’s involvement we will succeed in developing CEDA even more strongly in the Central European space!

I am waiting for you in 2023 in Bucharest, at the 54th CEDA Congress, to write a new page in the history of the Central European Diabetes Association.
