Dear colleagues,

We cordially invite you to participate at the 2025 Annual Congress of Central Europe Diabetes Association (CEDA), due to be held in Zagreb, Croatia 12-14 June 2025.

The Congress will bring together top experts working in different fields of diabetology and associated clinical conditions, aiming to provide the best updated insights into diabetes treatment, in order to improve daily clinical management and ensure a better quality life for the patients.

The programme will cover numerous important topics with participants having a unique opportunity to listen to and interact with prominent experts and researchers from around Europe and gain new insights in patient health care.

We encourage you to send abstracts with new research data dealing with all topics related to diabetes. All abstracts must be submitted through the official Congress website, by the submission deadline of April 1st 2025. Abstracts will be evaluated by a referee committee who will select the scientific contributions to be added in the Scientific Program as short oral presentations. All accepted abstracts will be published in the official CEDA journal "Diabetes, Stoffwechsel und Herz".

Furthermore, CEDA offers 10 Travel Grants of 500 euros each to the best abstracts submitted by young European scientists, not older than 40 years and who are not eligible to other forms of support. During the abstract submission, there will be an option to apply for a Travel Grant (declaration of age required). The recipients of these Travel Grants will also have free registration to the Congress.
